

As owner and creative director of an award-winning design and marketing communications firm, David has over 25 years' experience creating logos, brochures, annual reports and direct mail campaigns for such clients as Denver Botanic Gardens, Denver Art Museum, the American Cancer Society and Denver Children's Hospital. Moving to Central Oregon, he became the Creative and Marketing Director for a building products manufacturer where he created package design, trade show exhibits, print collateral and promotional materials. In addition, he developed strategies for advertising, product placement and positioning to increase awareness, visibility, and sales. David currently volunteers his expertise to provide graphic design services for Bend Redmond Habitat for Humanity.